Data Exchange

If you work in law enforcement and investigate incoming reports of Child Sexual Abuse Material (CSAM) online, the CPORT portal will support your investigations by greatly improving the amount of information and data you have access to.

The CPORT portal is a free, secure, collaborative web platform, specifically designed for law enforcement specialists. It serves as a data exchange portal between law enforcement and the centralised ICCAM platform that is used by hotlines.

ICCAM Platform

When someone from the public comes across CSAM online, they can report this to their local hotline. Frequently, multiple countries need to be included in the investigation and removal of the reported CSAM online. In such cases the hotlines use the secure ICCAM platform to forward these public reports to local hotlines in other countries.

There are hotlines in roughly 50 countries around the world that use the centralised ICCAM platform to exchange public reports on CSAM. The ICCAM platform is hosted by INTERPOL, where it also serves as an important channel to INTERPOL's ICSE database and INTERPOL's Worst of List (IWOL list).

CPORT Portal

ICCAM is a closed platform, only fully accessible by hotlines. However, by using the CPORT portal, national law enforcement agencies will receive access to hotline reports within ICCAM that pertain to their jurisdiction. The information they extract can then be managed within the CPORT portal.

As a result, centralised data from national hotlines can now be transmitted to law enforcement more efficiently, securely, and comprehensively, ensuring a rapid and safe dissemination of data.

Product Features

CPORT provides a range of functionalities that can be tailored and customised to fit the specific requirements of each law enforcement agency, based on their agreement with their national hotline.

Getting Access

Law enforcement officials can request a demo meeting to learn more about the portal and ask questions directly to the product development team. This demo meeting is an obligatory part of the application procedure for your law enforcement to get access to CPORT.

Project partner INHOPE will be conducting the access procedure in consultations with the relevant national hotline and INTERPOL before providing access to the CPORT portal.
